Hancock, an old citizen of Richmond, Virginia, writes: "I had suffered from kidney disease for twenty years and have tried many remedies, but in vain until recently, when I obtained of W. H. Scott, a druggist of this place, a Benson's capcine porous plaster. I felt relief a few hours after applying it. In twenty-four hours was entirely free from any pain, and am now perfectly well Benson's capcine porous plaster is one of the marvels of the age. It was invented as an improvement on the ordinary porous plaster. It contains all the merits of the latter article and in addition a new and powerful combi-nation of active vegetable ingredients, which causes it to have an influence upon the sys-tem far more beneficial than that of the common, slow-acting porous plaster. Its marvelous properties give almost instant relief from pain, and insure a more certain and quicker cure than any known plast r, lini-ment or compound. Sold by all druggists,

BAD PAROLE

Has Humiliated English Turfmen by a Second Victory, which has Made Him the Favorite on the Other Shore-Lorillard's Glory, and the Pride of America.

LONDON, April 22.-The American horse Parole won the city and suburban handicap race. An Epsom correspondent, writing las night, says: "Parole created such a favorable impression on the minds of backers generally that the final quotation at Tatter-sall's last night, for the city and suburban handicap, was only three to one against him. The favorite was Elf King, who was taken at seven to one. Parole was one of the ear liest arrivals at Epson, and did two canters yesterday morning, giving great satisfaction On the Downs to-day the Americans cheered loudly as Parole bore to the front the colors of Pierre Lorillard. Lord Rosebury's four-year old Ridalta was second; Lord Welton's six-year-old Cradle third. The last betting was three to one against Parole; twenty-five to one against Ridalta, and twenty to one against Cradle. There were eighteen starters. There was some heavy betting last night on Uncas, another of Lo-rillard's stable, at one hundred to eight

King, Knight of Burghlery, Attalus, Cradle and Belphobe. When they fairly settled down, Censor drew away, followed by Knight of Burghlery, Elf-King, Parole and Ridott As they came near home, Elf-King headed Knight of Burghlery, followed by Censor, Parole, Ridotto and Cradle. Here Elf-King, Censor and Knight of Burghlery were beaten; Ridotto had a slight lead, but was immediately challenged by Parole, who won easily by a length. Time—2:16.

AMERICAN HORSES IN ENGLAND.

Under the above head the New York Spirit of the Times indulges in the following com-ments and predictions on our Parole: "Not withstanding the persistent effort for a week past to have Parole sick, lame and sometime broken down, and that several gentlemen have offered to bet long odds that he would never come to the rost again, all caused by too hasty publications, that horse yesterday scored his first victory upon British soil. He captured the Newmarket handicae in hand-some style. Indeed, from the reports received by cable he was never troubled. Instead of being out of condition he was in perfect form, and was much admired at the post. The field, however, was not a strong one, and the victory cannot be a guide for the city and suburban, to come off at Epsom on Tuesday next, for the reason that he will meet not only a larger but a better field of horses, and in that race he will have to take up one hundred and twenty four pounds instead of one hundred and sixteen pounds carried by him in the Newmarket contest. On the day following he has two engagements at Epsom, the great metropolitan handicap, and the Prince of Wales's stakes, the first two miles and a quarter, and the latter one mile. Although he will have to pack addi-tional weight for winning the Newmarket race this week in both of these contests, we have had the utmost confidence that he would capture the metropolian, and now have no reason to change this opinion. We learn that all the American horses in England, including Duke of Hamilton's, Mr. Sanford's and Mr. Lorillard's teams, except Duke of Magenta and Uncas, are in splendid health, and several of them are very promising. Duke of Magenta is improving slowly, but the better independent of the state of the several of the ter judgment now is that he will never run again, and if ever, not in 1879. Uncas is lame, and the chances for America to win either the two thousand guineas or Derby are by no means flattering. Uncas is said to be lame behind, which is a bad indication, and leaves speculations about him in hopeless darkness. Indeed, the mishaps to Duke of Magenta and Uncas have, in a great measure, removed the gilt from the bright future of American horses on the British turf for the
